Figors his return from a session of the ederal court at Jackson, last Saturday, der. Kyser plunged into the local situation. He made public last week the scovisions of the new law and since hat time has gone further into the natter. He has stated that he will try rentle methods first and if these fall resocutions will be resorted to.

The presence in Memphis of a large number of chain stores, according to the district attorney, has had a tendency to hold down prices of foodstuffs and Mr. Kyser has stated that he is very well satisfied that there is very well satisfied that there is very little, if any profiteering in foodstuffs. His principal activities between now and the convening of the fall term of federal court will be devoted to other lines of business. The investigations to be conducted by the department of justice will be with a view to ascertaining whether or not wearing apparel in Memphis is being sold at an excersive price. Clothing of every description for ren, women and children, together with shoes and all articles of wearing apparel, will be brought under the searching eyes of the department of fustion terresentatives.

The new law states that the charging of an excessive price shall be deemed a violation of the law. Mr. Kyser was asked who would determine when a price became excessive and in reply stated that a jury would be called upon to determine that question.

Charges have been made that some merchants of Memphis have used 100 per cent as a minimum profit while others are said to have been satisfied with less. A very prominent efficial who is thoroughly familiar with mattern of this kind has expressed the opinion that a maximum profit of 50 per cent should be considered excessive under the terms of the new law.

Some local merchants have, according to one source of information, made a practice of charging the same price for old stock as for new. For instance an article that last year cost the merchant is and was said for 5.50. It cost the merchant this year $6 to secure the same article and according to the informant the merchant is now seiling both the oil and new stock for $5, thereby realizing a profit of 160 percent on left-over stock from last year and 33 1-3 per cent on the new stock. Such practices as these are being investigated by the department of justice and officials whose duty it is to suforce the provisions of the new law have pledged themselves to put forth their heat effects to being down the high cost of all necessities.

Mr. Kyser has expressed the hope that it will not be necessary for him to prosecute local merchants and has stated that he believes that Memphis merchants are not only willing but anxious for expressions to expressed that he government

Jeff Wade, engineer, whose divorce is set in the Fourth elecuit court suit is set in the Fourth elecult court for Monday afternoon, will seek to prove the numerous allegations contained in his declaration seeking permanent separation from his wife, teene Wade.

Wade declares that his wife has been grossly extravagant; in fact, too much so during these days of H. C. L. He says she has a mania for traveling and thinks of everything else but keeping house, as a good and dutiful wife should do, and therefore forced him to board instead of keeping house.

He further declares that his wife attends public dances, boat excursions and moving picture shows without an escort and when he admonished her not to do such things, she told him it was none of his business.

On Aug. 3 Wade says his wife tried to take his life with a butcher knife, cutting his right hand.
In conclusion, Wade claims that his wife treated their child so shamefully that he had to turn it over to the juvenile court in order to have it placed his a good home. He declares she did not feed it as she should and seldom ever gave it a bath. Herman Goldberger is Wade's attorney.

SABBATH DAY HEN CHEAPER THESE DAYS

The baked hen which graces the Sabonly a baked hen can, should now do Fred Orgill, employes of the hardware her gracing for a smaller stipend than only a baked hen can should now do har gracing for a smaller stipend than for some time. Joe Mette, poultry director of the Chamber of Commerce farm bureau, says the price of hens has dropped off several cents in the past few weeks. Hens formerly selling at 25 to 27 cents the pound to the jobbers, brought only 23 to 25 cents has week and are expected to hover right around 25 cents this week. The heavy receipts of all kinds of poultry are said to be responsible for the reduction in the value of hens.

The price of large springers, i. e., spring chickens coming into years of discretion, has dropped about the same as their elder sisters. Young springers of one and a half to two pounds continue to bring from 30 to 33 cents the pound to the jobbers.

Roosters, adult, are bringing from 15 to 16 cents and are much in demand.

As a result of the sending of so many hens to market and the failure of farmers to market and the failure of farmers to feed their layers sufficiently while waiting for the new crop of feeds to come in, eggs have become very scarce and cannot satisfy the demand. Farmers are being paid 55 to 35 cents a dozen for prime fresh eggs.

Geese are bringing 20 to 22 cents and turkeys 23 to 35 cents.

Mr. Mette has compared the prices being paid for eggs and poultry on the Memphis market with those of St. Louis and other large markets and declares that the Momphis market is the best from the standpoint of the producer.
